Visitors invited to sign structural beam for new addition

TOLEDO, Ohio – Imagination Station invites the public to leave their mark in the science center's history by signing a beam that will become a permanent part of the KeyBank Discovery Theater. The 23-foot steel I-beam will be on display in Discovery Hall beginning Thursday, September 26.

Imagination Station's KeyBank Discovery Theater is an 8,200-square foot addition to the science center featuring an expansive, 58-foot wide, 4K screen with laser projection and the ability to display video and audio in nearly any format.

The new venue will allow visitors of all ages to engage with powerful science concepts and enjoy thrilling entertainment possibilities in downtown Toledo.

"This multipurpose space will offer visitors of all ages a unique, immersive experience where they can make new discoveries, explore exciting places, dream big dreams and share special moments," said Lori Hauser, chief executive officer of Imagination Station. "As each construction milestone is met, excitement continues to build for the new opportunities for learning and entertainment this new venue will bring to our region."

Visitors may sign the beam until Friday, October 11. Construction of Imagination Station's KeyBank Discovery Theater is progressing on schedule and the venue is expected to open in summer 2020.
