Explore your inner artist at Toledo's Science Center

TOLEDO, Ohio – Whether you're searching for some extra family fun or looking to release your creative energy, Imagination Station is the place to be Thursday, June 20. The science center is offering its special $5 after 5pm admission and will extend its hours to 8pm to allow visitors even more time to create, experiment and explore.

"The third Thursday of the month is a great time to linger a little longer downtown," said Rebecca Schwan, Senior Information Officer for Imagination Station. "We encourage visitors to drop into science center after work, check out the Art Loop activities and unwind on the riverfront."

$5 after 5pm

The science center is open until 8pm and visitors can experience hundreds of hands-on exhibits for just $5. This is a great opportunity for science-lovers who are unable to visit during the museum's regular hours of operation. $5 after 5pm continues the third Thursday of each month through December.

Art Loop

Imagination Station is a stop on the Art Loop. This month, celebrate the Art of Sport by making a game of exercise. Visitors will make personalized activity cubes, then roll the dice to determine which game to play or physical activity to complete. Science center admission is not necessary to participate in the free Art Loop activity.

H₂O Cafe: Painting on the Patio with Kati Kleimola

Enjoy an evening of artistic expression along the banks of the Maumee River. Local artist Kati Kleimola will host Painting on the Patio at Imagination Station's H₂O Cafe beginning at 6pm. Participants will create a floral arrangement and use it for inspiration for a one-of-a-kind painting. Admission to the science center is not necessary, but pre-registration for the class is required. Visit imaginationstationtoledo.org to register. Food and drink will be available for purchase.

Imagination Station provides a critical layer of science enrichment by serving as an educational partner for teachers, schools and parents.
