Imagination Station presents
Elements of Style: A Fashion Show Fundraiser with STEMinist Flair

TOLEDO, Ohio – What does a scientist look like? What does she wear? Imagination Station will celebrate women in science careers as it re-imagines the runway and presents Elements of Style: A Fashion Show Fundraiser with STEMinist Flair on Monday, Jan. 28 at the Renaissance Downtown Toledo.

Imagination Station's first-ever fashion show is specifically designed to recognize the importance fashion plays in our culture, spark conversation about the importance of women in STEM fields, and promote science education.

Local women in STEM professions will take center stage and model selections from Holly Renee's science-inspired Shenova collection and the latest ladies and girls fashions from local boutiques including Elegant Rags, Matilda Jane Clothing, Ragazza, Sophia Lustig and Vivian Kate.

Attendees will learn how science and technology are inspiring new innovations in clothing and accessories, including high-tech fabrics with embedded sensors, stunning upcycled jewelry and augmented reality backpacks that assist first responders.

Tickets are $50 per person with all proceeds benefitting science education for children. The event runs from 11am – 1:30pm with lunch served at 11:30am. A raffle drawing, cash bar and complimentary valet parking are available.

Elements of Style is presented by Comfort Line FiberFrame and runway sponsors Communica and The University of Toledo STEM Supporters.

Imagination Station provides a critical layer of science enrichment by serving as an educational partner for teachers, schools and parents. It's with a thoughtful blend of exhibits, experiences, education and excitement that Imagination Station inspires visitors to pursue STEM careers in Northwest Ohio.
