Polka Dots to Pixels: Visitors will be Seeing Spots at Imagination Station

TOLEDO, Ohio – This weekend, Toledo’s science center will have visitors seeing spots! From oversized orbs to teeny tiny pixels, colorful circles are the name of the game at Imagination Station on Saturday and Sunday, March 2 - 3.

Reaching their right hand for red while balancing their left foot on blue, visitors will put their flexibility and balance to the test as they compete in an enormous version of the classic board game, Twister.

In the Tinkering Space, visitors will learn about the pointillism technique as they create individual masterpieces using dots of paint, and participating in community art using the smallest unit of a digital image, the pixel.

From video game and virtual reality technology to a large Lite Bright, more pixel play can be found in Imagination Station’s temporary exhibit, Popnology: From Sci-Fi to Wi-Fi. The interactive, engaging exhibit explores the technology in our everyday lives and how our science is inspired by, and intertwined with pop culture.

Popnology tickets are sold separately from admission to the science center. Admission is $4 for non-members and free for members. Visitors who wear polka dots this weekend will also receive free admission to Popnology. Giant Twister and Pixel Play are included with science center admission.

All Lucas County residents receive a $2 discount and FREE Saturday admission for kids, 12 and under, with paid adult admission. For more information, please call 419.244.2674 or visit www.imaginationstationtoledo.org.

Imagination Station provides a critical layer of science enrichment by serving as an educational partner for teachers, schools and parents. It’s with a thoughtful blend of exhibits, experiences, education and excitement that Imagination Station inspires visitors to pursue STEM careers in Northwest Ohio.
