Tech Reality and Pop Culture Collide at Imagination Station Popnology Exhibit Extended Through April 28!

TOLEDO, Ohio – Imagination Station is excited to announce the extension the current temporary exhibition, Popnology, sponsored by Pepsi Beverages Company. Guests who have yet to visit this exhibit can discover how science fiction elements from popular culture have become reality – from looking into a room representing a time capsule of 1983 to coming face-to-face with the world’s first 3D printed car. Popnology takes us from fantasy to the reality of driverless cars, robots, droves and into the future. For movie fans, there are references to “E.T.” to “The Rocketeer” to “2001: A Space Odyssey.” The exhibit will be open until April 28, 2019.

While visiting Popnology, visitors can also experience the fusion of comic books and tech reality in the new gallery at Imagination Station. Visitors can celebrate some of the greatest technological innovations through a unique perspective, the comic book. From Dick Tracy’s wrist radio to Batman’s flying eye, learn how pop culture has influenced almost every aspect of our daily lives.
